"Dear Six.—I am a poor hand at expressing my felling, but I should like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of Tranhetomy! (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Barthelomew's Hospital no one could possibly have had a more violent hough; it was so had at times that it quite exhausted rate. The muons, which was very copious and hard, his been enforced, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am sir, yours truly, J. Hill. E.

The above speaks for Spelf. Weam strict inquiry it appears that the benefit from using Krating's Court Lessanges is understated. The operation was a specially between one and was performed by the specialist. Dr. H. T. Butlin, of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. The China Mail. HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21, 1894 IT is frequently said, in a jesting or perhaps rather a sarcestic spirit, that we have to go abroad in order to get news about ourselves. The evidence adduced in support of this somewhat astonishing statement is not, as a rule, convincing or even credible. The American telegram which informed us that eight inches of snow had fallen at Singapore /11g on a certain day last year was in one 1/11s sense 'news,' but the Singaporeans could hardly be expected to accept the announcement as accurate. Nor could the inhabitants of Hongkong be supposed to awallow the statement also made in a recent American telegram that some three hundred pirates had been executed in the colony in one day. It is a great thing to be gifted with imaginative powers of a superior order, but imagination often interferes with the accuracy of what, in this strict 1694 sense of the term, could be defined as: news. People who are far distant from Hongkong and who know little or nothing about the place who are not aware even of the fact that it is a British colony or that it is the Malta and Gibraltar of the Far East - may be forgiven for making unfounded statements with regard to this pour little island and its people. Even a globetrotter who pays a brief Fisit to the place and puts his impressions of it in a book may be able to plead something in mitigation of sentence although it is difficult to conceive what he could plent unless it were something that cast the whole hlame on the poor harmless nocessary compositor. But when a gentleman who has been resident in the colony for his youth or his previous good charac-Therefore when we find Hongkong grossly misrepresented in a lecture by a Mr F. J. Lewis reported in the Amateur Photographer we are inclined to be severe. There is room for some doubt, however, as to whether the guilt rests on the lecturer or the reporter, or whether they were 'art and part' in misleading the world by making erroneous statements with reference to this outpost of the British Empire in the Far East. At all events, the lecturer's Budience and the readers of the paper in which the report of the lecture appears are informed that Hongkong can boast of the fact that more tonnake comes into its port than into the port of Inverpool. This statement is not strictly accurate, but as it is not libellous we may let it pass. It is somewhat hard on the Chinese contingent of our Police Force to be told that ' they are the biggest set of cowards on the ince of the earth. The lecturer certainly indulged in a flight of imagination when he made the following observations with regard to rickshas :- they are made to hold only one person, but six English Jack Tare took possession of one; two sat in the seat, two hung on behind, one stood up. and the other sat between the shafts and whacked the Chinaman with a big stick, whilst the sailor who was standing up was pulling at a rope which was attached to the Chinaman's mouth, and whenever a European was passed the driver yelled out "Geo whos," and gave the rope an extra This is bad enough, but worse follows and, as a sample, we quote the

The only fire brigade in Hongkong is an amateur one composed of the European residents. They have a lively time of it, for nearly all the houses are made of wood, The O. S. S. Co.'s s. s. Cyclops left Singaand it is a ourious fact that the fires always poeur about seven o'clock in the evening and at this time the amateur firemen are usually at dinner. In order to prevent a configration being extinguished, the Chinese inhabitants were in the habit of forming a cordon round the fire so that no one could get near it; but the captain of firemen one day gave the order to charge the crowd, and they soon made the people clear out by sundry taps on the head with formidable spanners with which they were equipped. The fires have become much more numerous since the Germans began to cut the price of insurance.

It is quite evident that if the lectures is not a modern Baron Munchausen, he has been very badly treated by an over- The s. s. Catherine Apear, from Calcutta, imaginative reporter.

Stopaui) were despatched from the Clubhouse of the Victoria Recreation Club, being followed ten minutes later by the hounds who ran in one pack. The trail was laid along Garden Road as far as St. John's Cathedral. Here, Lammert sent the other himself carried the paper round the Oathedral, past the Government Offices and the back of Government House, along Kennedy Road and down a bye-path to Murray Barracks. Unfortunately for the hares. but fortunately for the hounds. Stopani very considerately laid the trail from the for Lammert, with the result that the ten minutes' start was of no practical use them, for the hounds were close at their heels as soon as a junction was formed.
